Art Unit: 1742

1. The Examiner has carefully considered Applicant's Response of 10/7/05. The Examiner finds that Applicant's affidavit has overcome the prior art rejections. At this time, the Examiner makes a new rejection, necessitated by the affidavit. Additionally, the Examiner makes additional rejections which result in this Action Accordingly not being made final.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Luton et al.

Lutton et al. discloses an aluminum based alloy comprising:

alloying constituents selected from a group comprising magnesium and other additives including Ti and Zr (col. 6, line 63 to col. 7, line 6); and remainder Al.

Lutton further discloses wherein the amount of Al is preferably greater than 90% (col. 7, lines 7-11).

Lutton et al. further discloses wherein the amounts of alloying constituents and additives are selected from those as known in the art, but is silent as to specific amounts of each additive.

Given that Lutton et al. teaches that the amount of Al is preferably greater than 90%, the addition of alloying additives would fall within the claimed ranges as presented by Applicant, resulting in the prior art establishing a prima facie case of obviousness (see MPEP 2144.05) in regard to these limitations.

Lutton et al. further discloses cryomilling in nitrogen and forming oxy-nitrides in amounts that provide nitrogen in amounts which fall within Applicant's claimed nitrogen limitation, thus establishing a prima facie case of obviousness in regard to this limitation.

5. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir.

Art Unit: 1742

1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

6. Claims 1-11 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 17-19 of copending Application No. 10/388,059. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the invention is substantially encompassed by the earlier claims.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
